

COPPER ROOFING - IN DETAIL

CDA Publication 156

Order Form

This publication aims to provide architects and contractors with the technical information needed to design and install fully supported sheet copper roofing in accordance with current good practice.

The details illustrated will meet most of the conditions likely to be encountered. If unusual design situations arise, the principles shown should help in devising a solution.

This 120 page technical manual is available from Copper in Architecture at £25.00 per copy.
